To make cutting-edge, non-invasive hair restoration solutions of QR678 widely accessible across India

QR678, a pioneering company dedicated to revolutionising hair science through clinical research and innovative solutions, has partnered with Spectra Medical, a leading distributor of high-quality aesthetic equipment and products.

The collaboration aims to make cutting-edge, non-invasive hair restoration solutions of QR678 widely accessible across India addressing the growing demand for advanced, patient-friendly treatments.

Spectra Medical's expertise in distributing high-quality medical equipment and products from some of the world's leading manufacturers makes it an ideal partner to bring QR678's solutions to a broader audience. Known for its commitment to innovation and quality, the company has played a vital role in equipping healthcare providers with state-of-the-art equipment that improves patient outcomes.

QR678 has emerged as a pioneering innovation in the field of hair regrowth therapy. Developed after years of rigorous research, this regulatory-approved treatment utilises biomimetic polypeptides to stimulate hair follicles, effectively halting hair loss while promoting the density and thickness of existing hair. As a non-surgical solution, QR678 offers patients a safe and effective alternative to traditional procedures.

The partnership underscores the shared vision of QR678 and Spectra Medical to bridge gaps in accessibility to advanced hair restoration treatments, leveraging innovation to drive impactful results.
