

Health Ministry launches new curricula for ten allied healthcare professions

24 April 2025 | News

In collaboration with the National Commission for Allied and Healthcare Professions

Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, in collaboration with the National Commission for Allied and Healthcare Professions (NCAHP), has launched competency-based curricula for ten allied and healthcare professions. This strategic initiative is aimed at ensuring uniformity and excellence in the education and training of allied and healthcare professionals across the country, thereby strengthening the healthcare delivery system in accordance with the emerging needs of the nation.

The newly launched curricula are built upon the following principles:

- Standardisation: Establishing minimum educational standards to ensure consistent quality of graduating professionals nationwide.
- Competency-Based Approach: Emphasising the practical application of knowledge and skills in real-world healthcare settings, moving beyond theoretical knowledge.
- Holistic Development: Fostering not only clinical expertise but also essential skills such as communication, teamwork, ethical practice, and lifelong learning.
- Support for Universal Health Coverage: Preparing a skilled workforce in physiotherapy and renal care to support the government's vision of Universal Health Coverage.

The newly developed curricula aim to cultivate globally competent allied and healthcare professionals, equipped to meet the rising burden of disease and the increasing demand for allied health services. These programs are structured to align with the evolving needs of the healthcare sector, both nationally and internationally.

The development process involved extensive consultation with academic experts, representatives from professional associations, and key stakeholders across the healthcare ecosystem. A thorough review of existing educational modules was conducted, incorporating insights and feedback from senior technical advisors to ensure relevance and rigor.